UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

Case No. 2:19-cv-07077-FWS-AJR

MIGUEL GUTIERREZ,
Plaintiff,

v.

NEW HOPE HARVESTING, LLC.;
GUADALUPE GASPAR; EUGENIA
GASPAR MARTINEZ; ARACELI
GASPAR GASPAR MARTINEZ; AND JDB PRO, INC., d/b/a CENTRAL WEST PRODUCE, Inclusive,

Defendants.

ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF CLASS/COLLECTIVE ACTION AND PAGA SETTLEMENT [214]

1 Before the court is Plaintiff Miguel Gutierrez’s (“Plaintiff”) Motion for 2 Approval of Class/Collective Action and PAGA Settlement. (Dkt. 214 (“Motion” or 3 “Mot.”).) The court held oral argument on the matter on April 11, 2024.¹ (Dkt. 215.)
4 Based on the state of the record, as applied to the applicable law, the Motion is 5 GRANTED.

6 I. Background

7 In this case, Plaintiff brings several claims under federal and state laws against 8 Defendants New Hope Harvesting LLC, Guadalupe Gaspar, Eugenia Gaspar 9 Martinez, and Araceli Gaspar Martinez (collectively, “Defendants”) based on 10 Defendants alleged failures to properly to pay overtime wages and minimum wages, 11 failures to provide proper rest and meal periods, and improper charges or failures to 12 reimburse expenses experienced. (Dkt. 25 ¶¶ 1-5, 9-11, 19-26, 34-92.) Plaintiff seeks 13 to represent a collective under the Fair Labor Standards Act (“FLSA”), a class of 14 plaintiffs asserting various causes of action under federal and state laws pursuant to 15 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, and aggrieved employees under California’s 16 Private Attorney General Act (“PAGA”). (Id. ¶¶ 118-244.)

17 The Motion concerns Plaintiff’s request to settle the claims alleged in the 18 operative First Amended Complaint against Defendants. Plaintiff requests 19 preliminary class certification of approximately 900 individuals that worked for 20 Defendants as agricultural workers from February 4, 2016, through the date of 21 preliminary approval. (Mot. at 2.) Plaintiff also requests that the court preliminary 22 approve the proposed settlement agreement and procedures for notice, and set the 23 matter for a final fairness hearing. (Id. at 2-3.) Plaintiff further requests appointment
25

26
27 ¹ The court continued the Motion after the April 11, 2024, hearing to April 25, 2024, 28 pending receipt of additional supporting materials from Plaintiff. (Dkt. 215.) Having received those materials, the court took the matter off calendar. (Dkt. 218.)

1 as class representative, appointment of his attorneys as class counsel, and appointing 2 Atticus Administration LLC as settlement administrator. (Id.)

3 II. Legal Standard

4 Rule 23(e) provides that the claim “of a class proposed to be certified for 5 purposes of settlement” may be settled “only with the court’s approval.” Fed. R. Civ.
6 P. 23(e). Court approval is also required for settlement of an FLSA collective action
7 and for a PAGA claim. See Quiruz v. Specialty Commodities, Inc., 2020 WL
8 6562334, at *2-3 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 9, 2020); Cal. Labor Code § 2699(1)(2); Seminiano
9 v. Xyris Enter., Inc., 602 F. App’x 682, 683 (9th Cir. 2015) (citing Nall v. Mal-Motels, 10 Inc., 723 F.3d 1304, 1306 (11th Cir. 2013)). “[T]he factors that courts consider when 11 evaluating a collective action settlement are essentially the same as those that courts 12 consider when evaluating a [class action] settlement under Rule 23(e).” Id. at *2 13 (quoting De Leon v. Ricoh USA, Inc., 2020 WL 1531331, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 31, 14 2020)). Because PAGA does not establish a governing standard for review of PAGA 15 settlements, district courts evaluating PAGA claims employ different approaches.
16 Observing the differences between PAGA claims and a Rule 23 class action,² some 17 courts “have found it appropriate to approve a PAGA settlement where ‘the settlement 18 terms (1) meet the statutory requirements set forth by PAGA, and (2) are 19 fundamentally fair, reasonable, and adequate in view of PAGA’s public policy 20 goals.’” See Quiruz, 2020 WL 6562334, at *3 (quoting Chamberlain v. Baker
21 Hughes, 2020 WL 4350207, at *4 (E.D. Cal. July 29, 2020)).³

22
23 ² The California Supreme Court has described a PAGA action as a “form of qui tam 24 action.” Sakkab v. Luxottica Retail N. Am., Inc., 803 F.3d 425, 439 (9th Cir. 2015)
25 (citing Iskanian v. CLS Transportation Los Angeles, LLC, 59 Cal. 4th 348, 382 26 U.S. 639 (2022)).

27 ³ Others review PAGA settlements by reference to the Ninth Circuit’s eight-factor test 28 traditionally used to evaluate class action settlements. See, e.g., Wanderer v. Kiewit

1 “The purpose of Rule 23(e) is to protect the unnamed members of the class
2 from unjust or unfair settlements affecting their rights.” In re Syncor ERISA Litig., 3 516 F.3d 1095, 1100 (9th Cir. 2008). Accordingly, the court may approve a proposed 4 settlement “after a hearing and only on finding that it is fair, reasonable and 5 adequate.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2). “[T]he question whether a settlement is 6 fundamentally fair within the meaning of Rule 23(e) is different from the question 7 whether the settlement is perfect in the estimation of the reviewing court.” Lane v.
8 Facebook, Inc., 696 F.3d 811, 819 (9th Cir. 2012). Courts in the Ninth Circuit 9 “examining whether a proposed settlement comports with Rule 23(e)(2) [are] guided 10 by” eight factors:

11 12 (1) the strength of the plaintiff’s case; (2) the risk, expense, complexity, 13 and likely duration of further litigation; (3) the risk of maintaining class 14 action status throughout the trial; (4) the amount offered in settlement; (5) 15 the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings; (6) the 16 experience and views of counsel; (7) the presence of a governmental 17 participant; and (8) the reaction of the class members of the proposed 18 settlement.

24 Infrastructure W. Co., 2020 WL 5107618, at *2-4 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 31, 2020). For the 25 sake of completeness, the court evaluates the proposed settlement under the separate 26 test that accounts for PAGA’s statutory goals.

27 ⁴ While Rule 23(e) was amended in 2018, courts continue to apply the Ninth Circuit’s
28 eight-factor test. See, e.g., Senne v. Kansas City Royals Baseball Corp., 2023 WL
2699972, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 29, 2023), aff’d sub nom. Senne v. Concepcion, 2023

2 23(e)(1)(B)(ii).

3 “In addition, although strong judicial policy favors settlements, the settlement 4 may not be the product of collusion among the negotiating parties.” Churchill Vill., 5 L.L.C. v. Gen. Elec., 361 F.3d 566, 576 (9th Cir. 2004) (cleaned up). The court looks 6 for “subtle signs that class counsel have allowed pursuit of their own self-interests 7 to . . . infect the negotiations.” Briseño v. Henderson, 998 F.3d 1014, 1023 (9th Cir.
8 2021) (quoting In re Bluetooth Headset Prod. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 947 (9th Cir.
9 2011)). The Ninth Circuit has identified three such signs: (1) “when counsel receive a 10 disproportionate distribution of the settlement, or when the class receives no monetary 11 distribution but class counsel are amply rewarded”; (2) “when the parties negotiate a 12 ‘clear sailing’ arrangement providing for the payment of attorneys’ fees separate and 13 apart from class funds, which carries the potential of enabling a defendant to pay class 14 counsel excessive fees and costs in exchange for counsel accepting an unfair 15 settlement on behalf of the class”; and (3) “when the parties arrange for fees not 16 awarded to revert to defendants rather than be added to the class fund.” Bluetooth, 17 654 F.3d at 947 (citations and some internal quotation marks omitted).

18 When the settlement “takes place before formal class certification, settlement 19 approval requires a higher standard of fairness.” Lane v. Facebook, Inc., 696 F.3d 20 811, 819 (9th Cir. 2012) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Moreover, if 21 no class has yet been certified, the parties must also show the “court will likely be able 22 to . . . certify the class for purposes of judgment on the proposal.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
23 23(e)(1)(B)(i). “Rule 23(a) establishes four prerequisites for class action litigation, on the core concerns of procedure and substance that should guide the decision

2 representation.” Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 953 (9th Cir. 2003). A party 3 seeking certification must also satisfy at least one of the provisions of Rule 23(b).
4 Comcast Corp. v. Behrend, 569 U.S. 27, 33 (2013). The court engages in a “rigorous 5 analysis” to determine if Rule 23’s requirements are met. See Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v.
6 Dukes, 564 U.S. 338, 350-51 (2011); Comcast, 569 U.S. at 34.

7 “Courts implementing Rule 23(e) have required a two-step process for the 8 approval of class action settlements: the [c]ourt first determines whether class action 9 settlement deserves preliminary approval and then, after notice is given to class 10 members, whether final approval is warranted.” O’Connor v. Uber Techs., Inc., 201 11 F. Supp. 3d 1110, 1121-22 (N.D. Cal. 2016) (citation omitted). The initial decision to

1 III. Discussion

2 A. Conditional Class Certification⁵

3 1. Rule 23(a)

4 Rule 23(a)'s four prerequisites to bringing a class action are numerosity, 5 commonality, typicality, and adequacy of representation. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1)-(4).
6 "The numerosity requirement requires examination of the specific facts of each case 7 and imposes no absolute limitations." Gen. Tel. Co. of the Nw. v. Equal Emp.
8 Opportunity Comm'n, 446 U.S. 318, 330 (1980). The commonality inquiry turns on 9 "the capacity of a classwide proceeding to generate common answers apt to drive the 10 resolution of the litigation" and requires only "a single [common] question." Ruiz 11 Torres v. Mercer Canyons Inc., 835 F.3d 1125, 1133 (9th Cir. 2016) (quoting Dukes, 12 564 U.S. at 350) (emphasis and internal quotation marks omitted). "The test of 13 typicality is whether other members have the same or similar injury, whether the 14 action is based on conduct which is not unique to the named plaintiffs, and whether 15 other class members have been injured by the same course of conduct." Wolin v.
16 Jaguar Land Rover N. Am., LLC, 617 F.3d 1168, 1175 (9th Cir. 2010) (citation and 17 internal quotation marks omitted). "Adequate representation depends on, among other 18 factors, an absence of antagonism between representatives and absentees, and a 19 sharing of interest between representatives and absentees." Ellis v. Costco Wholesale 20 Corp., 657 F.3d 970, 985 (9th Cir. 2011) (citation omitted).

21 A class may be properly certified only if "the class is so numerous that joinder 22 of all members is impracticable." Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1). "In general, courts find 23

24
25 ⁵ Pursuant to the previous court's January 27, 2021, order, 11 individuals who 26 consented to join in this action as FLSA Plaintiffs before the 90-day notice period 27 expired were conditionally certified as the FLSA collective. (See Dkt. 100.) The 28 settlement concerns the same individuals. (Dkt. 214-2 ("Palau Decl.") ¶ 27.)
Accordingly, the court does not separately analyze conditional certification of the FLSA collective.

1 the numerosity requirement satisfied when a class includes at least 40 members,” 2 Rannis v. Recchia, 380 F. App’x 646, 651 (9th Cir. 2010), while “[o]n the low end, 3 the Supreme Court has indicated that a class of 15 ‘would be too small to meet the 4 numerosity requirement,’” id. (quoting Gen. Tel. Co., 446 U.S. at 330)). Plaintiff 5 estimates the settlement class will encompass approximately 900 putative class
6 members. (Palau Decl., Exh. 1 § VIII.) Given the substantial scope of the expected 7 class size in this case, the court finds joinder of all class members would be 8 impracticable and therefore concludes the numerosity requirement is met.

9 A class action also requires “questions of law or fact common to the class.”
10 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2). “An individual question is one where members of a 11 proposed class will need to present evidence that varies from member to member, 12 while a common question is one where the same evidence will suffice for each 13 member to make a prima facie showing or the issue is susceptible to generalized, 14 class-wide proof.” Tyson Foods, Inc. v. Bouaphakeo, 577 U.S. 442, 453 (2016)
15 (cleaned up). Plaintiff submits that this requirement is met because all class members 16 “were subjected to the same uniform compensation practice resulting in what Plaintiff 17 alleges is a fundamental failure to pay for all hours worked[,]” such that their claims 18 would be proven by “[c]ommon evidence – timekeeping, payroll, sign-in sheets, and 19 [Defendant’s] deposition testimony.” (Mot. at 12-13.) The court agrees with Plaintiff 20 that the core of this action presents factual questions common to the class regarding 21 Defendant’s employment practices and policies, the resolution of which would 22 determine the viability of Plaintiff and the class’s claims collectively. See Jimenez v.
23 Allstate Ins. Co., 765 F.3d 1161, 1165-66 (9th Cir. 2014) (holding that proof of 24 whether “informal or unofficial policies existed” would drive the resolution of class
25 claims based on alleged violations of working conditions embodied in California’s 26 Labor Code). Accordingly, the court finds the commonality requirement is met.

27 Under Rule 23(a)(3), “the claims or defenses of the representative parties must 28 be typical of the claims or defenses of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3). “In

1 determining whether typicality is met, the focus should be ‘on the defendants’ conduct 2 and plaintiff’s legal theory,’ not the injury caused to the plaintiff.” Lozano v. AT & T
3 Wireless Servs., Inc., 504 F.3d 718, 734 (9th Cir. 2007) (quoting Simpson v.
4 Fireman’s Fund Ins. Co., 231 F.R.D. 391, 396 (N.D. Cal. 2005)) (quoting Rosario v.
5 Livaditis, 963 F.2d 1013, 1018 (7th Cir. 1992)). Plaintiff submits common evidence 6 of timekeeping, payroll, sign-in sheets, and Defendants’ deposition testimony all 7 constitute common questions of fact amenable for classwide determination. (Mot. at 8 12-13.) Plaintiff further emphasizes his legal claims and those of the class all stem 9 from an “allege[d] [] fundamental failure to pay for all worked.” (Id. at 12.) The 10 court agrees that the similarities in the class’s legal theories of recovery and 11 commonality of sources of evidentiary proof establish common questions of fact and 12 law. See Parsons v. Ryan, 754 F.3d 657, 685-86 (9th Cir. 2014) (finding typicality 13 requirement met notwithstanding potential variance in damages among class plaintiffs 14 where they alleged “the same or a similar injury as the rest of the putative class”; “that 15 this injury is a result of a course of conduct that is not unique to any of them”; and 16 “that the injury follows from the course of conduct at the center of the class claims”) 17 (cleaned up). Accordingly, the court finds the typicality requirement is met.

18 Finally, “the representative parties” in a class action must “fairly and 19 adequately protect the interests of the class” they represent. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4).
20 “To determine whether named plaintiffs will adequately represent a class, courts must 21 resolve two questions: ‘(1) do the named plaintiffs and their counsel have any 22 conflicts of interest with other class members and (2) will the named plaintiffs and 23 their counsel prosecute the action vigorously on behalf of the class?’” Ellis, 657 F.3d 24 at 985 (quoting Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1020). The proposed settlement earmarks a 25 $20,000 incentive payment to Plaintiff for serving as representative, (Palau Decl.
26 § III.C.1), but this is not made contingent on Plaintiff’s support for the proposed 27 settlement, (see id.), and alone is does not disqualify Plaintiff from serving as class 28 representative. See In re Online DVD-Rental Antitrust Litig., 779 F.3d 934, 943 (9th

1 Cir. 2015) (“[I]ncentive awards that are intended to compensate class representatives 2 for work undertaken on behalf of a class “are fairly typical in class action cases” and 3 “do not, by themselves, create an impermissible conflict between class members and 4 their representatives”) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted).

5 The court finds no other relevant conflicts of interest in the record. Plaintiff’s 6 counsel submits Plaintiff has devoted substantial time and effort to prosecuting the 7 putative class’s claims, including “gathering, organizing, and reviewing documents 8 essential to the case; assisting counsel with investigating the case; responding to 9 discovery; providing deposition testimony; and participating throughout the litigation 10 and negotiation.” (Palau Decl. ¶ 49.) Plaintiff’s proposed class counsel is both 11 significantly experienced in repressing workers in employment class actions and has 12 expended significant resources actively litigating this matter. (Palau Decl. ¶¶ 9-22; 13 Dkt. 216-1 ¶¶ 3-4; Dkt. 217 ¶ 38.) Accordingly, the court concludes Plaintiff and his 14 proposed class counsel are adequate representatives. See Loc. Joint Exec. Bd. of 15 Culinary/Bartender Tr. Fund v. Las Vegas Sands, Inc., 244 F.3d 1152, 1162 (9th Cir.
16 2001) (holding plaintiff was adequate class representative where “the record indicates 17 clearly that he understands his duties [as class representative] and is currently willing 18 and able to perform them”); Rodriguez v. W. Publ’g Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 961 (9th 19 Cir. 2009) (holding the adequacy requirement for class counsel was satisfied where 20 “[c]lass counsel vigorously prosecuted the case through to a fair settlement with the 21 participation of two nonconflicted law firms that represented class representatives”).
22 Accordingly, the court finds the adequacy of representation requirement is met.

23 2. Rule 23(b)

24 Plaintiff relies on Rule 23(b)(3), which provides that a class action may be 25 maintained so long as Rule 23(a)’s prerequisites are satisfied, “questions of law or fact 26 common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual 27 members,” and “a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and 28 efficiently adjudicating the controversy.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3). “The 1 predominance inquiry under Rule 23(b)(3) ‘tests whether proposed classes are 2 sufficiently cohesive to warrant adjudication by representation.’” In re Hyundai &

3 Kia Fuel Econ. Litig., 926 F.3d 539, 557 (9th Cir. 2019) (en banc) (quoting Amchem 4 Prod., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 623 (1997)). “It ‘presumes that the existence of 5 common issues of fact or law have been established pursuant to Rule 23(a)(2),’ and 6 focuses on whether the ‘common questions present a significant aspect of the case and 7 they can be resolved for all members of the class in a single adjudication’; if so, ‘there 8 is clear justification for handling the dispute on a representative rather than on an 9 individual basis.’” Id. (quoting Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1022). “Rule 23(b)(3)’s 10 superiority test requires the court to determine whether maintenance of this litigation 11 as a class action is efficient and whether it is fair.” Wolin, 617 F.3d at 1175-76. Rule 12 23(b)(3) lists four “matters pertinent to these findings,” which “include: (A) the class 13 members’ interests in individually controlling the prosecution or defense of separate 14 actions; (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already 15 begun by or against class members; (C) the desirability or undesirability of 16 concentrating the litigation of the claims in the particular forum; and (D) the likely 17 difficulties in managing a class action.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3).

18 In this case, the court is satisfied Plaintiff will sufficiently meet the 19 predominance requirement. “Common issues predominate over individual issues 20 when the common issues ‘represent a significant aspect of the case and they can be 21 resolved for all members of the class in a single adjudication.’” See Edwards v. First 22 Am. Corp., 798 F.3d 1172, 1182 (9th Cir. 2015) (quoting 7AA Charles Alan Wright & 23 Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1778 (3d ed. 1998)). As noted, the 24 crux of this action requires Plaintiff and the class to prove the First Amended 25 Complaint’s allegations Defendants’ practices and policies resulted in 26 undercompensation on a classwide basis. See Vaquero v. Ashley Furniture Indus., 27 Inc., 824 F.3d 1150, 1154-55 (9th Cir. 2016) (affirming district court’s conclusion that 28 individual issues did not predominate where class plaintiffs alleged that the

1 defendants’ “consciously chosen compensation policy deprived the class members of 2 earnings in violation of California’s minimum wage laws” because “the employer-
3 defendant’s actions necessarily caused the class members’ injury”); In re Wells Fargo
4 Home Mortg. Overtime Pay Litig., 571 F.3d 953, 958-59 (9th Cir. 2009) (“[C]ourts 5 have long found that comprehensive uniform policies detailing the job duties and 6 responsibilities of employees carry great weight for certification purposes Such 7 centralized rules, to the extent they reflect the realities of the workplace, suggest a 8 uniformity among employees that is susceptible to common proof.”). And because the 9 common evidence underlying the class’s theories of recovery means their claims are 10 likely to “prevail or fail in unison,” see Abdullah v. U.S. Sec. Assocs., Inc., 731 F.3d 11 952, 967 (9th Cir. 2013) (quoting Amgen Inc. v. Connecticut Ret. Plans & Tr. Funds, 12 568 U.S. 455, 460 (2013)), the court concludes the predominance requirement is met.

13 The court also finds the superiority requirement is sufficiently met. Disposition 14 of Plaintiff and the class’s claims on a collective basis would promote the efficient 15 resolution of approximately 900 disputes, thus saving litigation costs and time as 16 opposed to litigating the claims individually. See Valentino v. Carter-Wallace, Inc., 17 97 F.3d 1227, 1234 (9th Cir. 1996) (“Where classwide litigation of common issues 18 will reduce litigation costs and promote greater efficiency, a class action may be 19 superior to other methods of litigation.”) (citation omitted). Additionally, the 20 supporting materials accompanying the Motion indicate requiring class members to 21 individually litigate their claims would impose significant costs on the parties, 22 particularly given this case required counsel to take discovery in Mexico. (See, e.g., 23 Palau Decl. ¶¶ 15, 21; Dkt. 216-1 ¶¶ 3, 6.) These high costs, considering the risks 24 proceeding through litigation and relatively small recoveries per class member on an 25 individualized basis, further supports finding the superiority requirement is met. See 26 Just Film, Inc. v. Buono, 847 F.3d 1108, 1123 (9th Cir. 2017) (affirming district 27 court’s finding superiority requirement was satisfied and noting its conclusion “that 28 the ‘risks, small recovery, and relatively high costs of litigation’ ma[d]e it unlikely

1 that [the] plaintiff would individually pursue their claims” went to “the heart of why
2 the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure allow class actions in cases where Rule 23’s 3 requirements are satisfied”).

4 3. Conclusion

5 The court concludes Plaintiff has shown the court “will likely be able to” certify 6 the class for purposes of judgment on the proposed settlement under Rule 23(a) and 7 Rule 23(b)(3). See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1)(B)(ii). Accordingly, the court turns next 8 to whether Plaintiff has also shown the court “will likely be able to” approve the 9 proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate. See Fed. R. Civ. P.
10 23(e)(1)(B)(i), (e)(2).

11 B. Adequacy of Settlement

12 1. Factors Addressing Potential for Collusion (“Bluetooth” Factors)

13 The court first considers whether the parties’ proposed settlement presents 14 “subtle warning signs” it may be a collusive byproduct, namely whether (1) a 15 disproportionate award of settlement funds to class counsel, or an absence of 16 monetary recovery to the class despite adequate compensation to class counsel; (2) a 17 “clear sailing” arrangement waiving a defendant’s challenge to a subsequent 18 application for attorney’s fees; or (3) a “reversion” or “kicker” provision remitting 19 reductions in attorneys’ fees to a defendant instead of the class fund. See Bluetooth, 20 654 F.3d at 947; see also Briseño, 998 F.3d at 1022-25 (holding that “courts must 21 apply Bluetooth’s heightened scrutiny” to both pre- and post-class certification 22 settlements following the December 2018 amendments to Rule 23(e)). “The presence 23 of these three signs is not a death knell,” but they “require the district court to examine 24 them, develop the record to support its final approval decision, and thereby assure 25 itself that the fees awarded in the agreement were not unreasonably high.” Kim, 8 26 F.4th at 1180 (cleaned up).

27 Class counsel stands to receive a significant fee, but not one the court finds 28 unreasonably disproportionate. “Although 25% of the anticipated settlement value is

1 a useful benchmark to keep in mind in all cases, [] caselaw affords district courts 2 discretion to refrain from attempting to measure the unmeasurable.” Campbell v.
3 Facebook, Inc., 951 F.3d 1106, 1126 (9th Cir. 2020); see also In re Easysaver 4 Rewards Litig., 906 F.3d 747, 758 (9th Cir. 2018) (noting the Ninth Circuit has 5 “generally held” a fee award within 25% of the total recovery as a “benchmark” for 6 “reasonable” fee award in a class action settlement). In situations where “the benefit 7 to the class is not easily quantified, district courts have discretion to award fees based 8 on how much time counsel spent and the value of that time (a lodestar calculation) 9 without needing to perform a ‘crosscheck’ in which they attempt to estimate how this 10 compares to the recovery for the class.” Id. (citations and some internal quotation 11 marks omitted).

12 Here, Plaintiff’s counsel stands to receive up to 33 1/3% of the $1,000,000 13 provided for in the proposed settlement fund as attorney’s fees, and up to an additional 14 $90,000 in reasonable litigation expenses if approved by the court. (Palau Decl., Exh.
15 1 § III.C.3.) The proposed settlement agreement also provides for injunctive relief 16 beginning ten days from final approval and continuing for three years, which includes 17 requiring Defendants to implement a timekeeping system; requiring Defendants to 18 provide clean water, shade, and washing facilities to the field workers; and requiring 19 Defendants to host regular trainings for managers when hired, which includes 20 informing the managers of the employee’s legal rights regarding ten enumerated 21 topics. (Id. § XII.) Although the amount Plaintiff’s counsel seeks exceeds the 25% 22 “benchmark,” the proposed settlement also provides for meaningful injunctive relief.
23 See Officers for Just. v. Civ. Serv. Comm'n of City & Cnty. of San Francisco, 688 F.2d 24 615, 628 (9th Cir. 1982) (“It is well-settled law that a cash settlement amounting to 25 only a fraction of the potential recovery will not per se render the settlement 26 inadequate or unfair. This is particularly true in cases, such as this, where monetary 27 relief is but one form of the relief requested by the plaintiffs.”) (citations omitted).
28 Moreover, Plaintiff’s supplemental supporting materials show Plaintiff’s counsel

1 incurred significant expenses litigating this action over the past four years, which 2 included extensive discovery and 21 depositions, including depositions taken remotely
3 and in Mexico. (Palau Decl. ¶¶ 12-15, 18, 20; Dkt. 216-1 ¶¶ 3-4; see also Dkt. 217 4 ¶ 38.)

5 The proposed settlement lacks a “reversion” (or “kicker”) clause, but does 6 include a “clear sailing” arrangement. As to a “clear sailing agreement,” the proposed 7 settlement states that Defendants “will not oppose requests for these payments [of 8 $333,300.00 in attorneys’ fees and not more than $90,000 in costs] provided that the 9 requests do not exceed these amounts.” (Palau Decl., Exh. 1 § III.C.3.) The proposed 10 settlement accordingly provides “for the payment of attorneys’ fees separate and apart 11 from class funds” that could be characterized as a “red-carpet treatment on fees.” See 12 Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 947 (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). However, 13 the proposed settlement does include a clause stating that disbursement of class 14 counsel’s fees and expenses “shall not precede disbursement of Individual Class 15 Payments, FLSA Member Collective Payments, and Individual PAGA Payments.” 16 (Palau Decl., Exh. 1 § IV.G.) And, with respect to the “reversion” of class funds, the 17 proposed settlement also provides that unclaimed settlement funds will revert to class 18 members or aggrieved employees, unless the amount is less than $10,000, in which 19 case it will revert to a nonprofit organization or foundation. (Id. § IV.I.) There is thus 20 no “arrange[ment] for fees not awarded to revert to defendants rather than be added to 21 the class fund.” See Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 947 (citation omitted).

22 In sum, while the court observes two of the three Bluetooth factors are present 23 in the proposed settlement, the court does not find their presence prevents preliminary 24 approval of the proposed settlement in light of the circumstances of this case. See 25 Allen v. Bedolla, 787 F.3d 1218, 1224 (9th Cir. 2015) (holding “the existence of these 26 three signs does not mean the settlement cannot still be fair, reasonable, or adequate” 27 so long as the district court “examine[s] them” and “develop[s] the record to support 28 its final approval decision”).

1 2. Factors Addressing Adequacy of Settlement

2 Proceedings in this case began on August 14, 2019, when Defendants removed 3 the action to this District. (Id. ¶ 10.) The parties mediated the case in October 2020, 4 which did not result in a settlement. (Id. ¶ 19.) In January 2021, the court
5 conditionally certified the FLSA Collective. (Id. ¶ 16.) On April 27, 2022, the action
6 was reassigned to this court. (Dkt. 146.) Relatively recently, on September 21, 2022, 7 the court granted Defendant JDB Pro, Inc.’s summary judgment motion.⁶ (See Dkt.
8 154.) On January 5, 2023, the court entered judgment on its summary judgment order 9 after Plaintiff sought to certify it under Rule 54(b). (Dkt. 166.) Since the case has 10 remained pending, Plaintiff explored an appeal of the court’s summary judgment order 11 later in January 2023, (Dkt. 169), mediated the case in February 2023, (Palau Decl.
12 ¶ 21), and ultimately agreed to a settlement in principle on August 3, 2023, (id. ¶ 22).

13 The case also proceeded through discovery. Plaintiff’s counsel reviewed and 14 analyzed Defendants’ payroll, timekeeping, and other records. (Palau Decl. ¶¶ 12-15.)
15 In addition to other written and documentary discovery, this case included over 15,000
16 pages of records produced by Defendants and 71,000 punched time cards. (Id. ¶ 13.)
17 The parties took 21 depositions, several of which occurred in Mexico. (Id. ¶¶ 14-15.)

18 Plaintiff’s counsel is experienced. Plaintiff’s co-lead counsel has 19 approximately 20 years of practicing in the field of class and representative actions, 20 including representing plaintiffs in wage-and-hour actions. (Palau Decl. ¶ 4.) The 21 firm representing Plaintiff has represented plaintiffs in wage and hour class and 22 representative actions, including PAGA and FLSA claims, for approximately thirty 23
25
26

27 ⁶ The motion for summary judgment was noticed for hearing prior to the reassignment
28 of this case. (See Dkt. 133.)

1 years. (Id. ¶ 3.) Plaintiff’s counsel believes, based on his experience and review of 2 the case, that the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate.⁷ (Id. ¶ 43.)

3 The proposed settlement offers $1 million dollars in monetary relief, which 4 represents 5% of the $20,131,864.48 maximum recovery estimated by Plaintiffs’ 5 damages model developed for mediation. (Palau Decl. ¶ 43.) Class members are 6 expected to receive an average payout of $474, distributed proportionally by number 7 of workweeks within the class period. (Id. ¶ 50.) The proposed settlement also 8 includes nonmonetary relief in the form of an injunction providing for several changes 9 to Defendants’ workplace practices, several of which are listed above. (Palau Decl., 10 Exh. 1 § VII.) In exchange, class members are to release all claims relating to the 11 facts pled in the operative First Amended Complaint, with the exception that those 12 Class Members who complete and timely submit Request for Exclusion to the 13 Settlement Administrator. (Id. §§ V.C, VII.F.1.)

14 Additionally, the 11 individuals comprising the FLSA collective would each 15 receive $1,000 to cover the estimated damages for the alleged FLSA violations, plus 16 liquidated damages.⁸ (Id. §§ I.W and IV.E.) This amount represents the $500 in out-17

18 ⁷ Defendants have not filed an opposition to the Motion, and Defendants’ counsel 19 affirmatively indicated Defendants do not oppose the proposed settlement at the April 20 11, 2024, hearing.

21 ⁸ Some courts have expressed concern regarding the combability between a FLSA 22 collective action and a related Rule 23 class action. See, e.g., Pitts v. Terrible Herbst, 23 Inc., 653 F.3d 1081, 1093 (9th Cir. 2011) (noting district courts are “divided” on the 24 issue but declining to reach it). The court is persuaded those concerns are not 25 implicated at this time. The FLSA Collective was conditionally certified by the 26 previous court in January 2021. (Dkt. 100.) The proposed settlement does not include 27 individuals who did not opt-in to join the FLSA collective. (See Palau Decl., Exh. 1 28 §§ I.V, X, IV.E); see also 29 U.S.C. § 216(b). In light the circumstances and considering the proposed settlement as a whole, the court finds it appropriate to proceed with both the FLSA and Rule 23 claims together. See Thompson v. Costco Wholesale Corp., 2017 WL 697895, at *8 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 22, 2017) (“[C]ourts that

1 of-pocket expenses these individuals are estimated to have spent to obtain H-2A visas
2 and travel to the U.S., and an additional $500 allegedly due to them as liquidated 3 damages under FLSA. (Palau Decl. ¶ 27.) At this stage,⁹ and noting the award to the 4 FLSA collective is separately earmarked from other settlement funds, the court is 5 satisfied it is a reasonable amount as to this claim. See Haralson v. U.S. Aviation 6 Servs. Corp., 383 F. Supp. 3d 959, 968 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (noting courts “have 7 generally concluded that between 70 percent and 100 percent of a plaintiff’s FLSA
8 damages constitutes a reasonable settlement”); see also Farthing v. Taher, Inc., 2017 9 WL 5310681, at *1 n.1 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 9, 2017) (“Where a defendant offers a 10 plaintiff full compensation for an FLSA claim, no compromise is involved and 11 judicial approval is unnecessary.”) (citing Mackenzie v. Kindred Hosps. E., LLC, 276 12 F. Supp. 2d 1211, 1217 (M.D. Fla. 2003)).

13 Plaintiff also highlights the risks of proceeding with this case, both from legal 14 and practical standpoints. Plaintiff’s counsel expresses concern about the potential 15 lack of documentary evidentiary proof supporting some of these claims, noting the 16 class’s claims dependent on rest and meal breaks would rely on testimonial evidence.
17 (Palau Decl. ¶ 44.) Plaintiff’s counsel also notes Plaintiff’s travel claim was “hotly 18 contested” and that “the facts developed in this case presented a novel question which 19 could have gone in favor of Plaintiff or [Defendants].” (Id. ¶ 45.) Additionally, 20 Plaintiff’s counsel notes the estimated $11 million in potential recovery under the 21

22 have approved settlements releasing both FLSA and Rule 23 claims generally do so 23 only when the parties expressly allocate settlement payments to FLSA claims.”) 24 (citations omitted); see also Ervin v. OS Rest. Servs., 632 F.3d 971, 976-79 (7th Cir.
25 2011) (holding class actions based on state employment laws under Rule 23 can coexist with FLSA collective actions).

26 ⁹ The court notes it may require further proof of that these damages are “full relief”
27 under the FLSA at the full fairness hearing on this matter. See generally 29 U.S.C. §§ 28 216(b), 260 (discussing awards of liquidated damages in cases of certain FLSA violations).

1 PAGA claim is uncertain because courts have discretion to reduce the civil penalty 2 award in PAGA cases, and the $11 million estimate assumes a maximum amount of 3 civil penalties. (Id. ¶ 46); see Cal. Labor Code § 2699(e)(2) (permitting courts to 4 “award a lesser amount than the maximum civil penalty amount . . . if, based on the 5 facts and circumstances of the particular case, to do otherwise would result in an 6 award that is unjust, arbitrary and oppressive, or confiscatory”).

7 Plaintiff’s counsel also emphasizes Defendants’ ability to pay served as a major 8 consideration in resolving this case. (Palau Decl. ¶ 47.) After engaging a forensic 9 accountants and Defendants’ financial records, Plaintiff’s counsel verified that 10 Defendants were financially constrained. (Id.) Plaintiff’s counsel submits that the 11 evaluation of their forensic accountant enabled Plaintiff to “negotiate an amount . . .
12 Defendants would be able to pay without seriously jeopardizing the continuation of 13 their operation.” (Id.) Plaintiff’s counsel further opines the continued financial drain 14 of litigation would prevent Defendants from paying a substantial sum if the case goes 15 forward. (Id. ¶ 48); see Class Plaintiffs, 955 F.2d at 1295 (“[A] settling defendant’s 16 ability to pay may be a proper factor to be considered in evaluating a proposed class 17 action settlement.”) (citation omitted).

18 So far, there has been no presence of a governmental participant evident from 19 the record. The court has also received no objections from potential class members at 20 this early stage, and Plaintiff’s counsel noted at oral argument on April 11, 2024, that 21 no class members have communicated their reactions to the proposed settlement at 22 this time. Accordingly, at this preliminary stage, these factors do not weigh strongly 23 in favor of approving or declining to approve the proposed settlement.

24 In sum, examining “the complete package taken as a whole,” see Officers, 688 25 F.2d at 628, the court concludes the proposed settlement falls within the range of 26 reasonableness. Accordingly, the court finds preliminary certification of the proposed 27 settlement under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e) proper.
28

1 C. PAGA Claim

2 The court next considers whether the settlement terms of Plaintiff’s PAGA 3 claim “(1) meet the statutory requirements set forth by PAGA, and (2) are 4 fundamentally fair, reasonable, and adequate in view of PAGA’s public policy goals.”
5 See, e.g., Chamberlain, 2020 WL 4350207, at *4.

6 With respect to the statutory requirements, PAGA requires that 75 % of civil 7 penalties recovered be allocated to California’s Labor and Work Force Development 8 Agency (“LWDA”) and 25 % be allocated to aggrieved employees. Cal. Labor Code
9 § 2699(i). Here, $15,000 is allocated to the PAGA claim in total. (Palau Decl. ¶ 28.)
10 As is statutorily appropriate, 75% of the $15,000 is allocated to the LWDA and 25%
11 of it is earmarked for class members. (Id.)

12 Several district courts “have applied a Rule 23-like standard, asking whether the 13 settlement of the PAGA claims is ‘fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable in 14 light of PAGA’s policies and purposes.’” Haralson v. U.S. Aviation Servs. Corp., 383 15 F. Supp. 3d 959, 972 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (collecting cases). Courts that apply this 16 method of analysis rely on a response from the LWDA submitted in connection with a 17 motion for preliminary approval in a separate case:

18
19 It is thus important that when a PAGA claim is settled, the relief provided 20 for under the PAGA be genuine and meaningful, consistent with the 21 underlying purpose of the statute to benefit the public and, in the context 22 of a class action, the court evaluate whether the settlement meets the 23 standards of being ‘fundamentally fair, reasonable, and adequate’ with 24 reference to the public policies underlying the PAGA.

25
26 See id. (quoting O’Connor, 201 F. Supp. 3d at 1133).

27 In light of this guidance, the court finds the proposed settlement is within the 28 range of approval on the bases of fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness for the 1 reasons discussed above. Additionally, “the lack of objection from the LWDA despite 2 being provided timely notice of the terms of this proposed settlement” supports a 3 finding of fairness. See Chamberlain, 2020 WL 4350207, at *5. The proposed 4 settlement furthers PAGA’s public policy goals including “augmenting the state’s 5 enforcement capabilities, encouraging compliance with Labor Code provisions, and 6 deterring noncompliance.” O’Connor, 201 F. Supp. 3d at 1132-33 (citations omitted).

7 Because “Plaintiff’s representative PAGA claim reached conduct not directly 8 addressed by the state, and resulted in the state’s recovery of $[11250] in civil 9 penalties,” the “[i]mposition of those penalties will encourage future compliance with 10 the California Labor Code.” See Quiruz, 2020 WL 6562334, at *9.

11 D. Notice

12 Under Rule 23(c)(2)(B), “the court must direct to class members the best notice 13 that is practicable under the circumstances, including individual notice to all members 14 who can be identified through reasonable effort.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B). The 15 Rule requires that the notice “clearly and concisely state in plain, easily understood 16 language” the following:

- 17
18 (i) the nature of the action; (ii) the definition of the class certified; (iii) the 19 class claims, issues, or defenses; (iv) that a class member may enter an 20 appearance through an attorney if the member so desires; (v) that the court 21 will exclude from the class any member who requests exclusion; (vi) the 22 time and manner for requesting exclusion; and (vii) the binding effect of a 23 class judgment on members under Rule 23(c)(3).

24
25 Id. (paragraph breaks omitted).

26 The court finds the notice procedure in the proposed settlement (Palau Decl., 27 Exh. 1, Exh. A) sufficiently meets these requirements. The court finds the proposed 28 notice procedure is the best practicable because the procedure requires notice to class

1 members via U.S. Mail. (Palau Decl., Exh. 1 § VII.D.2.) Additionally, to 2 accommodate for the large number of class members working broad under H-2A visas 3 in Mexico and potentially elsewhere, the proposed settlement provides through 4 WhatsApp messaging service accounts, which Plaintiff’s counsel has previously used 5 to communicate notice to the FLSA Collective pursuant to the court’s earlier order 6 conditionally certifying the FLSA Collective. (Id.; Palau Decl. ¶ 33.) It also contains 7 the information required by Rule 23(c)(2)(B)(i)-(vii) as stated above in adequately 8 plain language. (See Palau Decl., Exh. 1, Exh. A (proposed class notice)); Churchill 9 Vill., 361 F.3d at 575 (“Notice is satisfactory if it generally describes the terms of the 10 settlement in sufficient detail to alert those with adverse viewpoints to investigate and 11 to come forward and be heard.”) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted).
12 Accordingly, the court concludes the proposed settlement meets Rule 23’s notice 13 requirements to the class.

14 IV. Disposition

15 For the reasons stated, the court concludes Plaintiff has adequately shown that 16 the court will likely be able to approve the proposed settlement in this action as fair, 17 adequate, and reasonable to the class, and certify the class for purposes of settlement.
18 See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1). Accordingly, the Motion is GRANTED. The court
19 ORDERS as follows:

- 20
21 1. The Court preliminarily approves the Class Action Settlement 22 Agreement (Palau Decl., Exh. 1) pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil 23 Procedure 23(e)(1); and
- 24 2. The Court grants conditional certification for settlement purposes 25 only of the following Class for settlement purposes only, pursuant 26 to the Federal Rule Civil Procedure 23(e):

27 All non-exempt agricultural employees who performed field work for 28 NHH Defendants in the production of strawberries—including, but not

1 limited to, tasks such as planting, cultivating, pruning, harvesting, picking, 2 and packing—in California at any time between February 4, 2016, through 3 the date of preliminary approval.

- 4
- 5 3. The Court Appoints Verónica Meléndez and Ezra Kautz of 6 California Rural Legal Assistance Foundation and Marco A. Palau, 7 Joseph Sutton, and Eric Trabucco of Advocates for Worker Rights 8 LLP as counsel for the Settlement Class;
- 9 4. The Court appoints Plaintiff Miguel Gutierrez as the Class 10 Representative for the Class;
- 11 5. The Court approves, as to form and content, the proposed Class 12 Notice (Palau Decl., Exh. 1, Exh. A) and the procedure for 13 providing notice to the Class; and the procedure for Class members 14 to object to, or request exclusion from, the Settlement. In 15 implementing the proposed notice procedure, the Parties may make 16 any necessary changes to these documents provided those changes 17 are consistent with this Order;
- 18 6. The Court will not rule on the proposed attorneys’ fees and costs or 19 the proposed Class Representative and FLSA opt-in Plaintiffs 20 Enhancement Awards at this time; rather, it will consider whether 21 to approve those requests based on its review of a separate noticed 22 motion to be filed by Plaintiff prior to the final approval hearing;
- 23 7. The Court appoints Atticus Administration, LLC (“Atticus” or 24 “Settlement Administrator”) as the Settlement Administrator and 25 directs the Settlement Administrator to perform all tasks related to 26 administration and distribution of this Settlement;
- 27 8. The Settlement Administrator is further ordered to provide the 28 approved Class Notice in accordance with the schedule below (to the extent any discrepancies between these items and the Settlement exist, the terms of this Order shall control):

- 1 • Not later than fourteen (14) days after the District Court
2 Grants Preliminary Approval of the Settlement, Defendants 3 shall provide the Settlement Administrator with a Class List 4 containing each Class and Collective Member's name, last 5 known address, telephone number, and workweek data.
6 Defendants shall also provide copies of each Class and 7 FLSA Collective Member passports so that Plaintiff's
8 counsel can attempt to locate workers not resided in Mexico
9 or the United States;
10 • Not later than thirty (30) days of receipt of receiving the 11 Class Data, the Settlement Administrator shall send the 12 Class Notice to the last known address or updated address of 13 each Class Member via U.S. Mail and/or WhatsApp; 14 • Not later than three (3) business days after the Settlement 15 Administrator's receipt of any Class Notice returned as 16 undelivered, the Settlement Administrator shall re-mail the 17 Class Notice using any forwarding address provided by the 18 USPS. If the USPS does not provide a forwarding address, 19 the Settlement Administrator shall conduct a Class Member 20 Address Search, and re-mail the Class Notice to the most 21 current address obtained;
- 22 9. The deadlines for Class Members' written objections, Challenges 23 to Workweeks and/or Pay Periods, and Requests for Exclusion will 24 be extended an additional 14 days beyond the 60 days otherwise 25 provided in the Class Notice for all Class Members whose notice is 26 re-mailed re-mail the Class Notice to the most current address 27 obtained;
- 28 10. For any Class Member whose Individual Class Payment or Individual PAGA Payment is uncashed and cancelled after the void date, or for any amount that is not claimed by a Participating Class Member or Aggrieved Employee with an address outside of the United States, the amount of such uncashed amounts shall be re-distributed to Class Members and Aggrieved Employees who received and cashed their first payment, unless the total uncashed amount is less than $10,000, in which case the uncashed funds shall be delivered to a Court-approved nonprofit organization or

1 foundation consistent with Code of Civil Procedure section 384(b)
2 (“Cy Pres Recipient”). Any funds that are not cashed within 180
3 days after this second distribution shall be distributed to the Cy 4 Pres Recipient. The Parties will propose the United Farm Workers 5 Foundation as the Cy Pres Recipient; and 6 11. A Final Approval Hearing is scheduled on August 22, 2024, at 7 10:00 a.m.¹⁰ in Courtroom 10D of this court, to determine 8 whether the Settlement is fair, adequate, reasonable, and should 9 approved. The Court reserves the right to adjourn or continue the 10 date of the Fairness Hearing without further notice to the Class.
